THE FUGAZI

PRESENTS

DEAR SAN FRANCISCO

FROM
THE 7 Fingers

WELCOME TO CLUB FUGAZI

Constantly risking absurdity

and death

whenever he performs

of his audience

the poet like an acrobat

climbs on rime

to a high wire of his own making...

-from Lawrence Ferlinghetti's Constantly Risking Absurdity (#15)

Poet, neighbor, and City Lights founder Lawrence Ferlinghetti once read his poems in this room. So, too, did Allen Ginsberg, Jack Kerouac, Diane di Prima, and many others. Thelonious Monk recorded Thelonious Alone in San Francisco here. The Grateful Dead's first album release party was here in 1967. The great pop and classical singers of Italy rocked these walls throughout the 40s and 50s. And, of course, the absolutely inimitable Beach Blanket Babylon completed its 45-year run here in December of 2019.

Then came COVID-19 and the lockdown. 21 months of darkness fell on Club Fugazi.

We are so honored and inspired to be able to light the lights once again. We opened in September of 2021, and that feeling has not left us.

Club Fugazi Experiences is a homecoming for each of the principals. Gypsy and Shana, both Bay Area natives, co-founded The 7 Fingers here before decamping to Montreal 20 years ago, where support for contemporary circus was both wide and deep. And with their colleagues, they have built The 7 Fingers into one of the most acclaimed and prolific contemporary circus companies in the world, mostly out of view of their Bay Area families and friends. Myself, I had been gone for 15 years, after making theater in San Francisco for two decades. We never stopped working to get home. Co-founder Eric Eislund, though he's always lived in the Bay Area, had never had an opportunity to do a project here.

And so, like the poet and the acrobat of Ferlinghetti's poem, we climb out on a high wire of our own, risking absurdity, to bring you a new, contemporary experience of San Francisco in a room filled with favorite memories for millions. Every trip to Club Fugazi, whether to see The 7 Fingers, or events we haven't yet foreseen, will hopefully—through joy, beauty, surprise, virtuosity, and delight—remind you of the rich history and potent future of this city and the people who love it.

The emblem of the City's flag is a phoenix. San Franciscans know what it is to fall and to get back up. To collapse, burn, and rise from the ashes. We have lived the risks of loving here. And we are here.

Dear San Francisco opens with the following lyrics:

From fire to ashes, from ashes to tremor

My city is calling.

From fire to ashes, ashes to light

My city is rising.

-"Fire" by Colin Gagne

We have answered that call. And our City is rising once more. We are pleased to be part of that. And we're very glad you are in the room.

THE PRODUCERS

DAVID DOWER (he/him)

Co-Producer and Executive Director

Like the Fingers founders, David Dower's journey as a theater producer began in San Francisco, where he founded Z Space and produced over fifty productions over a twenty-year span.

From his place behind the bar at Zuni Cafe, David launched the original Z Collective, comprised of waiters, bartenders, and maitre d's, producing a dozen shows over five years before morphing into The Z Space, which is still in operation in the Mission District. In that time, David began a long collaboration with monologist Josh Kornbluth, with whom he developed and directed new works for the stage including Ben Franklin: Unplugged, Love & Taxes, Citizen Josh, Andy Warhol: Good for the Jews?, Sea of Reeds, and staged the films Red Diaper Baby and Mathematics of Change in 2006. David also developed and directed new works by many Bay Area artists and ensembles, including Anne Galjour, Gary Leon Hill, Charlie Varon, and Word for Word.

David led Z Space for 12 years before leaving to assume the role of Associate Artistic Director at Arena Stage in Washington, DC. In six seasons there he oversaw the production of three Tony-winning shows (33 Variations, Next to Normal, and Edward Albee's Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolff) and the development of three shows that ultimately earned the Pulitzer Prize for Drama (Next to Normal, Fun Home, and Sweat). He also oversaw the production of the long-running hit Duke Ellington's Sophisticated Ladies, which re-established DC's long-dormant Lincoln Theater, Ellington's home theater, and the record-breaking hit Oklahoma, which opened the new Arena Stage building and ultimately sold over $5 million in tickets in its two extended runs there.

David then became Artistic Director at ArtsEmerson, in Boston, where he presented a season of international theater in four venues in the city's theater district, including The 7 Fingers' shows Sequence 8, Traces, Cuisine & Confessions, Réversible, and Passengers. He returned to San Francisco at the end of 2020 to assume the role of Executive Producer for The 7 Fingers US operations and lead the Club Fugazi project.

NASSIB EL-HUSSEINI (he/him)

Co-Producer and CEO of The 7 Fingers

is committed to exploring the horizons of human creativity in all its complexity, Nassib El-Husseini has charted a singular and wide-ranging course. After leaving his native Lebanon in the late 1980s, Nassib worked as an advisor and volunteer with numerous Quebecois, Canadian, and international governmental and non-governmental agencies. In 1998, he published L'Occident Imaginaire (Éditions PUQ).

Nassib El-Husseini's trajectory took a major turn in 2003, when his path crossed that of seven artists determined to make their mark on the world of contemporary circus. With their first show just created, a clear-eyed ally was all the troupe needed to conquer the world. Nassib placed his experience and his passion for art and innovation at the service of the nascent troupe that would become one of the jewels of artistic expression.

As chief executive officer of the company, Nassib has brought his resolutely avant-garde, innovative vision and has turned towards a vast exploration of possibilities. Propelled by these ideas, The 7 Fingers have become a major player in the international art scene.

Nassib El-Husseini is currently the president of the board of directors of CINARS (International Exchange for the Performing Arts) and was a member of the board of the Conseil des arts de Montréal from 2012 to 2018, as well as a member of the organizing committee of the Canadian Arts Summit in 2019. # CLUB FUGAZI EXPERIENCES

Club Fugazi Experiences was created in 2020 by Montreal-based The 7 Fingers to reanimate this historic venue and provide the company with a San Francisco home. Since the Fingers' founding in 2002 here in San Francisco, the artist collective has been looking for an opportunity to put down roots in their home city. The Club is host to the resident show, Dear San Francisco, created by The 7 Fingers and will host additional events late nights and early weeknights when the show is not in performance. Club Fugazi Experiences is under the management of David Dower and Rishi Kapur, and operated as a satellite of The 7 Fingers' Montreal headquarters.

Club Fugazi itself has been a San Francisco cultural venue since 1914, when the building was given in trust to the Italian community of North Beach. The trust, administered by Italian Community Services, has protected this room from being developed as anything other than a live performance venue in perpetuity. Club Fugazi Experiences is proud to be part of keeping this historic room at the center of the neighborhood's vibrant cultural life.

WHO'S WHO IN DEAR SAN FRANCISCO

A number of different names go by, in this production, that all lead to interesting back stories about San Francisco history. Some are more familiar than others, like Jack Kerouac (On The Road) and Allen Ginsberg (Howl) who were giants of the Beat Poetry movement and read their works from this stage. Others, though they each have an association with this neighborhood and city, are likely unfamiliar:

John Fugazi

Cavaliere Ufficiale John F. Fugazi, for whom the Club is named, founded the Columbus Savings and Loan Society in 1893 as well as the Banca Popolare Operaia Italiana in 1906. Both banks eventually merged with the Bank of Italy, which was later renamed the Bank of America. He built this building as a gift to the Italian community of North Beach.

Brigid O'Shaughnessy

The femme fatale protagonist created by Dashiell Hammett for his novel The Maltese Falcon, Brigid O'Shaughnessy is the only fictional character to have a plaque in her honor in the city of San Francisco. It is located at Burritt Alley, just blocks from this show.

Lawrence Ferlinghetti

Poet, painter, activist, and publisher Lawrence Ferlinghetti was not only one of the seminal poets of the Beat generation, he also created The City Lights Bookstore (the first all-paperback bookstore in the country) and City Lights Publishers, both of which are still operating today. He passed in February of 2021, at 101 years of age. He's a prominent feature of The Beat Museum around the corner on Broadway.

Gary Snyder

Pulitzer Prize winner Gary Snyder was at the center of the poetry readings that happened on the Club Fugazi stage for decades. An early member of the Beat generation of poets, Snyder is also known as the "poet laureate of Deep Ecology" for his writings and activism on behalf of the natural world.

Joanne Kyger

A native of Vallejo, California, Joanne Kyger landed in North Beach in 1957 and was a central figure in both the Beats and the San Francisco Renaissance Poetry circles. She taught for many years at New College in San Francisco, and at Mills College in Oakland.

Diane di Prima

A second-generation Italian American, Diane di Prima was a central figure in the beat poetry movement from the time she moved to San Francisco from her native Brooklyn. An activist and educator, she taught for a time just up the hill from Club Fugazi at the San Francisco Art Institute.

Bob Kaufman

One of the very few African American "beats", Bob Kaufman moved to the neighborhood from New Orleans and co-founded the literary journal Beatitudes with Ginsberg and others. He revered jazz and mostly kept to an oral tradition, proclaiming his poems in live gatherings rather than writing them down. City Lights Publishers did publish collections of Kaufman's.

Jack Hirschman

Jack Hirschman was a revered figure in North Beach right up to the moment of his passing, in August of 2021, while we were in rehearsal for this show. A prolific poet and fierce activist, he was also a regular patron of the beloved neighborhood coffee house, Caffe Trieste.

Maya Angelou

Among the many, many notable stories of her life, Maya Angelou was a calypso performer at the Purple Onion here in North Beach, and the first African American streetcar operator in San Francisco. She would of course go on to write towering poems and memoirs and recite at President Bill Clinton's inauguration.

Rafael Jesus Gonzalez

Bay Area poet Rafael Jesus Gonzalez was born in El Paso, Texas, and became the first poet laureate of the city of Berkeley. He also founded the Mexican and Latin American Studies Department at Laney College in Oakland.

Master Lu Yi

Master Lu Yi is, as the show says, a seminal figure in San Francisco's circus community and in The 7 Fingers style. He emigrated to San Francisco from China in the '90's and brought with him an expertise in Chinese Pole, Hoop Diving, and Diablo, among other skills not represented in Dear San Francisco. He is still a resident of San Francisco.

THANK YOU

We would not be here without the incredible support, partnership, and generous spirit of the folks at Italian Community Services, who are both our roommates and our landlords. From the moment they selected our proposal for reanimating this room, they have been true collaborators in making it possible. Special thanks to Board Chair Don Parachini, Board Vice President Steve Leveroni, former Executive Director Pietro J. Bonanno, and current Executive Director Vyria Paselk.

It is equally true that we wouldn't be sitting here, any of us, without the strong and consistent support of the City of San Francisco and the neighborhood of North Beach.

Supervisor Aaron Peskin and Chief of Staff Sunny Angulo

Entertainment Commission: Maggie Weiland and Kaitlyn Azevedo

Office of Workforce and Economic Development: Ben Van Houten

A special thank you, as well, to Jo Schuman Silver for her immediate and gracious support of this whole idea. We are grateful to all that Steve Silver Productions accomplished in this room and the way that has set the stage for this endeavor.

A heartfelt note of gratitude to the dozens of people who have invested their personal resources and hopes in this effort and without whom this could literally never have gotten off the ground, along with a promise from all of us to merit your confidence in us and this vision of renewal for this special place.

Particular thanks to the community of Club Fugazi Experiences, LLC, including our Producers and Co-producers, and our members Stewart Bonn, Elisa Bretón and Matt Nathanson, Robert Burkhardt, Ross M. Burkhardt, Martha Diepenbrock and Josh Newman, The Forest Family, David Gast, Bill Irwin and Martha Roth, Karen Lehner, Marcia Solleck Leonard, MD, Christine and David Letts, Tom Lightburn, Caitlin Pardo de Zela and Dan Lockwood, Wendy Parkman and John Rogers, Rusty and Patty Rueff, Roberta Sherman, Harold Silver, and Marc and Mari Snyder, and those who have chosen to remain anonymous.

A venture this complicated can only come together with hundreds of unsung heroes who have lent their time, support, and expertise along the way. We see you. We thank you. And we welcome you to the Club.
